

giddy baby

A knitting pattern by Georgie Hallam

In Australia, giddy is a colloquial term for hello.
While we do say hello too, our most common salutation is giddy.
We may even greet a new baby with the phrase, "Giddy little fella."
This cardigan is perfect for welcoming babies;
into this world or into your heart.
Knit top-down and seamlessly,
it features simple increases in a striped garter stitch circular yoke.

Sized for chest measurements of 15 and 16"/38 and 40.5 cm.
Fits approximately newborn to 6 months.

Sizes:

To fit actual chest measurement of:

15 & 16: 15/38 [newborn- 3 months] (16/40.5 [3-6 months]) inches/cms.

Sizes are colour-coded throughout the pattern in line with the above.

This garment is designed with 1"/2.5cm of positive wearing ease. The ease of the garment is incorporated into the sizing already. See schematic below for finished garment measurements.

When choosing a size to knit, please choose the sizing based on the child's actual chest measurement rather than their age. Throughout the pattern you will be directed to knit for age, when knitting for body and sleeve length.

Pattern Notes:

This cardigan is knit top-down. The body of the cardigan is knit flat and the sleeves are knit in the round. The cardigan has a circular yoke which uses simple yarn over increases to shape it.

When switching colours on the yoke, simply carry the yarn not in use up the side.

The edging and button bands are integrated into the garment as you knit, making for minimal finishing.
